Seven elementary and sixteen high school pupils are attending in neighboring towns.

Many school systems are already making plans for post-war reorganization and improvement. It is none too early to think about acquiring land and preparing preliminary plans for new school buildings. Funds will doubtless be available after the war to assist local communities in financing public construction projects in order to stimulate employment, as well as to bring education, health, and recreation abreast of the great strides which have been made in other fields of progress in the post-war world. As soon as possible, all Lee children should have the advantages of a similar grade organization. Consideration should be given to grouping Grades VII and VIII by themselves, either in a separate room or by attendance in Durham and Newmarket. A new two or three room building would accomplish these purposes.

The issuance of War Ration Book No. 4 last fall was completed in one day, under the direction of the teachers. It is not expected that the schools will be called upon to undertake any more such projects for some time to come.
The Report of the School Nurse for the school year ending last June shows the completion of the regular health examination, with the usual reports to parents and home visits in cases of special need, attention in cases of suspected contagious disease, as well as a special Audiometer test for hearing. The facilities of a Dental Clinic were made available to those wishing to take advantage of such treatment.

Roll of Perfect Attendance for the Year
Raymond Munroe, Alice Smith, George Smith, Jr., Charles Smith, Robert Smith, Shirley Smith. The remarkable record of the five pupils in the family of Mr. George Smith deserves special citation.

Respectfully submitted,

Chester W. Doe,
Superintendent of Schools.
